(International News Service)
Western Pennsylvania's bituminous coal strike front wavered and broke today as thousands of miners returned to work in answer to President Roosevelt's peace arrangement, which carries the endorsement of Governor Gifford Pinchot, the U. M. W., union and the operators.

But in Fayette county, hotbed of the walkout which spread in two weeks to 150 tunnels, working more than 40,000 men, pickets held their ground and bickered among themselves over whether to go back to work, while the mines remained idle.

Ignore Leaders
Union leaders in riotous Fayette county formally voted to ignore the peace settlement and instructions to return to work from John L. Lewis, international head of the union, executive session presided over by William Penney, district No. 4 president, decision on returning to work being laid over until Friday.

In response to this move Governor Pinchot acted quickly and decisively in telegraphing Thomas Moses, president of the H. C. Frick (Continued On Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The huge public works program of the administration was being timed today to reach its peak about Nov. 1 and continue at a high level throughout the winter.

The public works council named by President Roosevelt to cooperate with Secretary of Interior Ickes, public works administrator, is closely studying the statistics of increasing employment with a view to turning the program to the industrial recovery movement.

On Steady Upgrade
Determined to prevent a repetition of last winter's unemployment, the public works council was shaping the program so that it can be speeded or retarded to keep the nation on a steady upgrade toward business recovery.

With more than $1,000,000,000 of the $3,300,000,000 fund authorized by Congress already allocated, the number of men actually put to work thus far is small.

Inevitable delay in approving plans and selecting projects worthy of expenditure of federal funds has proved an obstacle in the path of the public works board.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 7.—Every week or so another fine plan comes from the administration. This last one of "no strikes during these times and it's to be settled fairly by the government," that's one of the best yet.

Unions are fine things, for they are in every line of business. Bankers have their association for mutual benefit, governors have theirs, all big industries are banded together in some way, but a strike should be the very last means, for it is like war, it always falls on those who had nothing to do with calling it.

So viva this last move.

Italo-Americans Plan Dual Fete At Cascade Park

Feast Of The Assumption
Also To Mark First Italian Day For Lawrence County

B. J. BIONDI NAMED GENERAL CHAIRMAN

Solemn High Mass To Open
Day Followed By Parade
And Picnic On Aug. 15

On Tuesday, Aug. 15, Italian-American residents of New Castle and Lawrence county will not only fittingly observe the feast of the assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, one of the outstanding religious holidays of all people of Italian nationality, but an occasion especially dear to the hearts of the members of St. Vitus parish, but they will participate in the first annual observance of Italian Day by the people of the city and county.

The religious ceremonies of the day will be observed during the morning in St. Vitus church, after which there will be a parade through the principal part of the city from the church to Cascade Park, which will be the center of interest for the balance of the day and the place where the celebration other than the religious will be observed.

All Italians Invited
Not only are the members of St. Vitus parish invited by Rev. Fr. N. DeMita and the lay committee in charge of the occasion to participate in all features of the occasion, but also all Italian-Americans of the county, their families and friends.

Rev. Fr. DeMita in announcing the big affair stated that in the inauguration of Italian Day it was the desire of himself and the others sponsoring the affair to make it not only one big family affair, which would cause the people to mingle together and become better acquainted, but to start a movement that would grow with the years and become an established part of the life of the entire city and county.

It is especially desired that the families and children be present at the various features of the occasion. There will be two outstanding features of the day at the park, one the program of speaking at seven p. m., at which it is hoped to have either Judge Musmanno of Pittsburgh or Attorney Charles Margiotti, formerly of Pottsville, but now of Pittsburgh, or both, as speakers. The other big feature will be the mammoth fireworks display which has been arranged for the occasion.

Other features of the day at Cascade Park will be sports of all kinds, and there will also be dancing and all the attractions of the park.

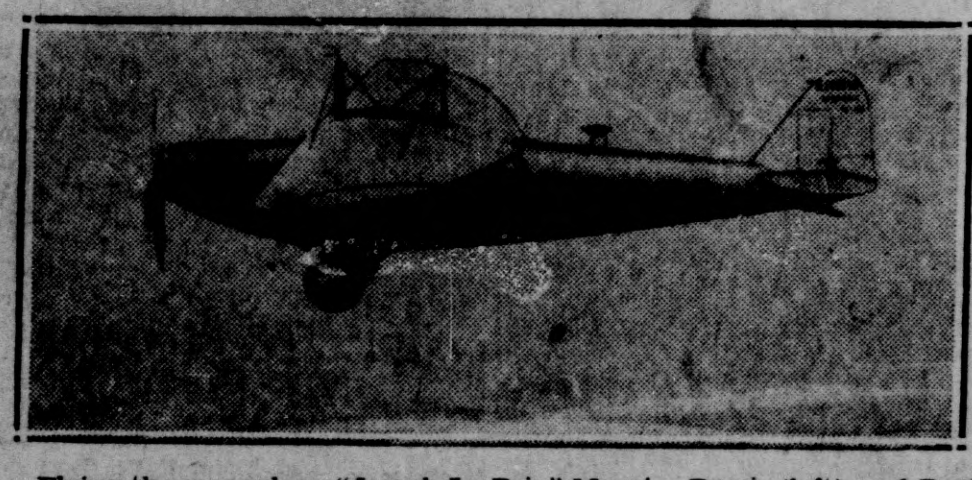

Religious Opening
The religious ceremonies of the day will get under way with mass at seven a. m., another at nine a. (Continued On Page Two)

Monetary Problems Will Be

And Advisers Today

STUDY PURCHASING POWER OF DOLLAR

(International News Service)
HYDE PARK, Aug. 7.—Monetary problems in mind, President Roosevelt today scheduled a quiet conference with the two most mysterious figures in the administration—Professors George Warren of Cornell and James H. Rogers of Yale.

With them he called to his family home, where he is vacationing here, James Warburg, who was his monetary expert at the 'world economic conference in London.

Warren and Rogers were assigned by the President some time ago to the task of studying the purchasing power of the dollar. In Washington their movements were mysterious and they have talked hardly at all.

No Change of Policy
The purpose of today's meeting was unknown. The President has said nothing of monetary matters since he arrived here, except to comment on the refunding program of the Treasury, now being negotiated. There has been no indication of a change in money policy.

Mr. Roosevelt long ago announced he would have none of stabilization on an international basis at this time, but wanted the dollar tied to commodities at home first of all.

Week-end conferences at the temporary White House brought South and Latin America more clearly into the picture of this country's economic policies. Also, the President received a report on the wheat conference in Geneva from Henry Morgenthau Sr., who headed this country's delegation to the parity.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—John Sonnie, 24, arrested last year in Nebraska for attempted extortion in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case, was shot and killed when he attempted to hold up Constable Ray Hertel of Springdale, county detectives said today.

Sonnie's brother Carl, who took him to the hospital after the shooting, was arrested when he told police a false story of the killing. Authorities said they came to Springdale to rob "petters."

Hertel said John Sonnie approached him with a gun in his hand and ordered the officer to hand over his money. Hertel reached into his hip pocket and pulled out his gun, firing twice.

At Citizens' General hospital in New Kensington, where Carl took his wounded brother, he told attaches John had been shot by a man of whom he asked a match. Police said John served a month in a federal prison for writing a letter to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh offering to return his baby for $35,000.

BULLETIN, 2:30 P. M.
(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 7.—Conflicting reports regarding progress of Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, French distance fliers, were received today.
An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris said that a wireless message received from the plane at 3:45 p. m. (10:45 a. m. E. D. T.) placed the fliers only 25 miles from Damascus, Syria, and stated they planned to continue until sundown.
The French air ministry, however, said the airmen were expected to land at Rayack, near Beirut, shortly.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—A report that Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, French fliers, have broken the non-stop distance record was received this afternoon.

Mme. Rossi, wife of one of the airmen, told International News Service the Air Orient Company had informed her the fliers passed Aleppo, Syria, at 2:30 p. m. Paris time (9:30 a. m. E. D. T.).

The Air Orient Company refused to confirm the report, however. Aleppo is approximately 5400 miles from New York. The previous record for non-stop distance flying is 5340 miles.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi, French fliers seeking a new non-stop distance flying record, were 250 miles from Beirut, Syria, today, according to a telegraphic report received by the Air Orient Line.

The point mentioned in the dispatch is in the Mediterranean sea, just southwest of the island of Cyprus.

The fliers previously flew over the island of Rhodes. Their latest position gave them a total of approximately 5,100 miles of sustained flying, only 240 miles short of the present distance record.

BODY FOUND IN SHALLOW GRAVE

Two Bullets Ended Life Of Man; Will Question Son Of Former U. S. Attorney General

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Seeking a clue to the motive in the mysterious murder of Henry F. Sanborn, 44, railway executive, whose bullet-pierced body was found buried face downward in a shallow grave near Bayside, Queens, police today sought two of his women friends.

One was a young business woman, who Sanborn had planned to marry. The other was a woman about 30 years of age, who was pictured in several snapshots found in Sanborn's room.

Authorities also wished to question Bancroft Mitchell, described by police as the son of former United States Attorney General William D. Mitchell. Mitchell was a friend of the murdered man and had recently negotiated with him in a business deal.

Sanborn, son of the late Federal Judge Walter H. Sanborn of St. Paul, Minn., was general eastern agent of the St. Louis-San Francisco railway. His sister is Mrs. Grant Van Sant, who is a guest of Miss Alice Morrow, sister-in-law of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

In Shallow Grave
Discovery of Sanborn's body near the Long Island motor parkway in a grave apparently dug by the same persons who fired two bullets into his body, ended an intense search following his disappearance three weeks ago today.

Detectives said Sanborn was last seen alive on July 17 when he left his office in the Woolworth building, taking with him $1,000 or more he had withdrawn from a bank. He told associates he was closing a "business deal."

Documents found in Sanborn's clothes, police said, showed he had bought four shares of stock in a Connecticut brewery for $400 from Mitchell and a receipt for the $400, signed by Mitchell, was found in a pocket.

RESUME DUTIES PENDING START OF COAL HEARING

Coke Company, at whose mines the strike was born, asking him to keep his mines closed "at least until Tuesday". Moses agreed, and most operators in the seething southwestern coke field followed suit.

Elsewhere in the western Pennsylvania strike area, however, miners were returning to work, with scattered exceptions. The dramatic temporary midnight agreement of Saturday which postponed the battle for union recognition until the coal code hearings start Wednesday proved satisfactory to operator and miner, and mining was to be resumed.

Estimates were that about 30,000 picketing miners would return to work, or approximately half of those out on strike Saturday.

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 7.—All mines in Fayette County remained idle today, following the lead of the H. C. Frick Coke Company which agreed to Gov. Gifford Pinchot's proposal that mines in the southwestern coke field should not be opened "at least until Tuesday."

Gov. Pinchot's proposal was made when striking miners who have forced every Fayette county tippie to shut down voted not to return to work today despite the president's announcement of a strike settlement.

There was no disorder and only a few pickets remained on duty at principal mines in the county, but no workers showed up.

DuBois, Pa., Aug. 7.—James Mark, district president of United Mine Workers of America, District No. 2, today estimated 12,000 miners had returned to their jobs in his jurisdiction.

"The men voted almost unanimously to back up the president's request," Mark said. "I am very much gratified."

Mark's district included Cambria, Somerset, Jefferson, Indiana, Elk, and a portion of Huntington counties.

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 7.—Two large mines of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation in Cambria County were working with full forces this morning, company officials here stated. Twelve hundred men are employed at the two tippies.

A third mine, out on strike a week, was not operating today. Officials said they had not intended to resume operations at this tippie immediately under the peace agreement.

Two other mines of the company in Washington had not reported to the home offices here but it was not believed they would be working.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 7.—Part forces went back to work in four of the Pittsburgh Coal Company mines today, but at one tippie the men left the pits again after working only a short time, company officials here reported.

Half the regular force reported to work at Banning No. 1, Eclipse and Dickson mines and a small complement went into the pit at Montour No. 9 but later returned to the surface.

Pickets turned away men reporting to work at Banning No. 2. Notices were posted at all mines that operations would be resumed today under the settlement agreement of Saturday.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Aug. 7.—Evidence 100 per cent cooperation with the terms of the strike agreement, 7,000 men returned to work in mines of the Jefferson-Indiana counties coal field today.

Five thousand of these returned peacefully to eight mines of the Rochester and Pittsburgh coal company, company officials reported from Indiana this morning.

The mines operating were Helvetia, Clearfield County; Big Soldier, and Adrian, Jefferson County; Yatesboro, Elmer Lucern, McIntyre and Iselin, all of Indiana county.

"No trouble at all," was the brief but pointed comment of one company official here today concerning activities in these mines.

At the same time, the Clearfield bituminous coal company, operating three mines; the Buffalo and Susquehanna Coal Company, operating two mines; and the Northwestern Mining Exchange, with one mine, each reports 100 per cent operations today. Several independent operations also resumed production.

m., and solemn high mass at 10:30 a. m., with Rev. Fr. N. DeMita as the celebrant and preacher. He will have a special message on the assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The day is of special significance to the members of St. Vitus congregation because of the fact that the cornerstone of the present church was put in place on this feast day, and one year later the church was dedicated on the feast day.

The Blessed Virgin Mary is also the protectress of the congregation. A special part of the high mass will be the presence in a body of the members of the House of Savoia, the oldest Italian-American society of the city, because of the fact that the flags of the organization were blessed in the parish church on the feast of assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary about 1898. The society also regards the Blessed Virgin Mary as its protector and makes this annual visit to the church in her honor.

Following the solemn high mass the House of Savoia, of which Mike Covelli is the president, will parade and has invited all other societies of Italian-Americans of the county to participate. The parade will start from the church and go to the park through the principal part of the city, and following the parading members of the various societies will be hundreds of automobiles and trucks, on which the families of the paraders and others participating in the celebration will be taken to the park to spend the day.

It is to be a picnic affair and all are urged to take their baskets and something good to eat and enjoy themselves to the utmost.

Rev. Fr. N. DeMita and a group of the young men of the church are arranging the details of the affair, which it is hoped to make one of the biggest events of the year.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Striking toward Bagdad with a new non-stop distance record apparently in their grasp, Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi, French airmen, passed over the island of Rhodes at 5:30 a. m. GMT, after an adventurous flight over the Atlantic and the face of Europe.

At the time they passed Rhodes, the fliers had covered approximately 4,800 miles without a stop since leaving Floyd Bennett airport, New York, at 5:41 a. m., E. D. T., Saturday.

Another 540 miles—the approximate distance from Rhodes to Bagdad—would have enabled the fliers to equal the old distance record of 5,340 miles.

Rossi and Codos, however, were determined to reach Karachi, India, total distance of 7,200 miles from New York, despite the fact a gasolier leak at one time threatened an early end to their daring venture.

Indications were that the airmen were able to take sufficient time from the piloting and navigation of their huge silver monoplane to repair whatever trouble developed. For by means of their high-powered wireless, they advised the French air ministry the flight was proceeding "according to schedule."

program, Congress was informed by federal officials that more than a billion and a half dollars of worthy public projects scattered throughout the country were in such shape that work could be started without delay.

All proposed projects, however, will be carefully canvassed under the policy laid down by Ickes. Regional and state advisers have been named to prepare programs, but state engineers are to be named. It was expected President Roosevelt would approve a list of 48 engineering today or tomorrow. It then will be possible to put state, county and city public works projects in shape to be considered by the public works board.

Preparation of the complete state, county and city programs is expected to make from 30 to 60 days, with approval to follow and contracts to be let.

The Metropolitan Opera Company is out looking for American singers and American composers. Much of its success next season may depend on an American tour.

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED AT AFTERNOON BRIDGE

Saturday afternoon marked an important event when Mrs. Glen Chesney of Butler, Pa., entertained at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brenner on the Ellwood-New Castle road at a bridge to announce the betrothal of her sister Margaret to Wesley H. Zeigler of Bethlehem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zeigler of Rochester, Pa.

During the social hours five tables of cards were in play and at the conclusion of this, they were served dainty refreshments by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Brenner. Appointments of green and white prevailed and the individual tables were each centered with a bouquet of summer flowers.

Following the guests were invited to participate in a treasure hunt, the beginning of the trail revealing the bridge prizes which were won by the Misses Elizabeth Patton, Thelma Welch and Sara McCombs for first, second and consolation honors respectively. The remaining directions brought the hunters to the side lawn where an unique improvised sea was discovered on which a miniature "Love Ship" sailed. Markers along the shore told of being the "Matrimonial Sea" and gave the sailing date as "Autumn".

The register of the ship found also along the edge of the sea gave the names of the engaged couple "Margaret and Wesley" and showed their pictures. Small ship logs attached to the boat that revealed the facts of the coming event, were given each guest.

Out of town participants were present from Rochester, Pa., Cleveland, O., Youngstown, O., Franklin, New Wilmington, Ellwood City and Schencksville.

BONDS FOR ALL

THERE is no reason to suppose that the federal treasury is issuing bonds because it feared an issue in larger denominations would not find a market. Several large issues have been floated during the depression and money famine and all have been oversubscribed at low interest rates.

While the government is floating this loan primarily for refunding purposes and to finance the national recovery program, it is taking advantage of it to enlist in recovery movement millions who otherwise would have no bit to do. The government wants every American in this fight and one way of doing it is to first get him financially interested.

It was tried during the World war and was successful beyond the wildest dreams of those who conceived the idea. Liberty bonds helped many help win the war.

If this depression is to be licked, we must all help. President Roosevelt, General Johnson and the rest of the staff have said that they cannot hope to do it alone, but that with the cooperation of employers, workers and dollar-holders victory is at hand.

Every purchaser of a baby bond will know that he or she is aiding somebody on a job, helping some employer open his factory or assisting some farmer to get back on his feet.

MAY INCREASE MARKETS

The possibility of the United States winning a stronger trade position in South America is taking on increasing interest as result of recent developments in Argentina.

The latter occupies a predominant position in South America. Any important American trade gains there would be likely to have an effect on other countries of that continent. Argentina is among the South American nations that have been invited by Washington to join negotiations for commercial alliances.

Great Britain long has held a leading place in Argentine trade. A proposed new British-Argentine trade agreement now is under consideration. It is reported, however, that many Argentine industries are displeased with the proposed pact. The resignation of Finance Minister Hueyo was said to have been due to serious differences over the proposed treaty.

Because Britain takes a large portion of Argentine beef, which the United States can not do without injuring its own cattle industry, America can not be expected to usurp Great Britain's place, in Argentine trade. There is room, however, for a much greater business between the United States and Argentina than at present.

It is the hope of Washington officials that this may be realized, and the situation at present seems to have some very encouraging aspects.

REVOLUTIONARY TAX PLANS

Revolutionary tax proposals are not unusual, with respect to the frequency of their appearance.

Among the latest of such to turn up is one prepared by I. M. Brandford, commissioner of state lands and investments for Montana. Mrs. Brandford advocates the adoption of national legislation which would make homes exempt from taxation. In addition, he would make it impossible for a mortgage to be put on a home once the home had been acquired in full ownership.

He wants the home to be absolutely secure. To accomplish this, he says, the government "must extend well-planned aid toward actual, full unencumbered home ownership; make the home exempt from taxes of all kinds; make it legally impossible to place a mortgage on it, or to hypothecate or pledge it in any manner whatever for the payment of debts; make it legally exempt from liens of all kinds, and from attachment, judgment and execution."

If homes were exempted from taxation, how would this huge loss in taxes be made up? Then there is another angle to the question. Ownership of a home gives the owner a feeling of security not only in respect to the present but in relation to the future and temporary adversity. He knows that in case of some sudden emergency he may be able to borrow money on his home to tide himself over a difficulty that could not otherwise be negotiated.

Not all borrowings on homes are unwise, nor does the man who mortgages his home always lose it. There are cases in which the giving of such a mortgage has proved his salvation.

The Montana man's idea has a pleasing sound, but when examined closely many defects are revealed. In this respect, it resembles many other of the revolutionary tax proposals that are brought forward.

WHERE NOW ARE THOSE LOW TARIFFS?

Back in the days of the presidential campaign we heard much about tariffs. We were told by Democratic orators that they were too high; that we had erected barriers which were hard to scale; that we were driving away international trade; were inviting reprisals, and so on. A chief apostle of low duties was the present Secretary of State Hull. He headed the American delegation to London obsessed with the idea that something definite might be accomplished there. It couldn't be. Each nation is looking after its own affairs.

The fact is that the United States is in no position to talk turkey, considering that congress, when it enacted the farm relief law, conceded that protection was a necessity after all. The processing tax on wheat and cotton was designed not only to restrict production and reimburse the farmers, but to raise prices to the pre-war standard. But home prices higher than those elsewhere invited importations, therefore congress decreed a proportional rise in duties. It put some extra layers on the "barriers."

Wheat and cotton and certain agricultural products are not the only ones to enjoy better marketing rates. The government is engaged in carrying out a program that is designed to raise prices of commodities generally to correspond with the increased costs to industry and business for spreading hours of labor, furnishing more employment and lifting low wages to a fixed minimum. What does this mean? Well, Administrator Johnson was asked what it meant when he visited Harrisburg. Wouldn't our markets be flooded with cheap goods made abroad? His questioners wanted to know. No, they wouldn't, he promised. The president had power, he informed them, under the recovery act, to declare embargoes, and the president would do so if necessary.

Our own domestic plans and the uncertain situation abroad do not lend themselves to tariff raids. It is fully understood in Washington that to make our prosperity restoration scheme a success we must neglect nothing that will be helpful. The tariff issue of the Democratic campaign is therefore, a back number. Instead of slashing duties they will be raised—by a Democratic administration. Possible reciprocal agreements in spots is all that is left.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

WHY FIGHT?

THE OTHER fellow doesn't think as you do. His ideas are different. His actions are different.

You like a crowd; he likes to be alone.

He likes to read a book; you like to play baseball.

You join organizations and get much joy out of their activities; he doesn't.

He thinks the theory of evolution is the truth; you aren't at home with the idea that the human race is descended from a cousin of the ape.

You like hunting; he thinks that hunting is an unprovoked murder of creatures that have as much right to live as you have.

He is interested in politics; you are indifferent.

Your idea is to make as much money as you can and then live an easy, enjoyable life; his idea is that if you spend too much time thinking about money and how to make it, you'll lose many pleasant moments and waste the best years of your life.

He believes in a personal god who is interested in your little life; you doubt that.

You worry; he doesn't.

He is proud of his ancestors; you never think of them.

You're all right, and so is he. You have your side, and he has a side of his own, too. And what he thinks is no affront to you, and what you think is no reason for him to break up your friendship.

His way of living is no criticism of you, nor is yours of his. You are two people, and two people, living on the same street in the same town, can be as different as a cave-man from Einstein. . . . But it's a big world despite the airplanes and the radio, and there's really nothing to fight about.

JUST GOLD

England is not thought of as much of a place for a gold find, but Lord James Sanger, noted circus man, has uncovered one in the gold leaf on his circus wagons, unused for 30 years because they were too cumbersome.

These huge vehicles, embellished with carvings of allegorical figures, were built more than eighty years ago. Once a year they were gilded with 21-carat gold leaf, at a cost of approximately 1,000 pounds. Although long in disuse, they have been preserved as family heirlooms at circus headquarters near Horley, in Surrey, England.

Now, the many gold layers of gold encrusted on them are being scraped off, and will yield many pounds of the precious metal.

Cool the breeze and fair the day,
Lily pads in bloom,
Now the town seems far away
With its grief and gloom.
Strange in just an hour I can
Seem to be a different man.

Yesterday I railed at life
And at buildings gray.
Then I was a man of strife
Battling through the day.
Driven on by human words—
Now I'm listening to birds.

Now I've put away renown,
Pretentious and care;
Turned my back upon the town
With its stifling air
And I'm fishing on a stream
Where a thousand glories gleam.

Yesterday I fancied all
Eye could ever see
Was a line of buildings tall
Prisoning men like me.
Now beneath God's open sky
Life seems different. So do I.

Safe Driving "Hint"

By The National Safety Council

Anybody can drive safely when everything goes all right but the real test of a safe driver is how he acts when everything goes wrong.
Try to keep cool and to keep your temper at all times when you are driving. Try to develop a calm driving temperament. This can't be done overnight if you are a nervous individual, but it is worth a try. Then, at that critical second when trouble looms, you will instinctively do the right thing.
Don't attempt to drive when you are in an angry or nervous state of mind. If you feel yourself getting into a reckless mood, slow down until you calm down. Keep cool and live long.

Country Seeks Reasonable Attitude Toward Markets

Open Mind Marks Discussion Of Recent Wide Fluctuations In Trading On Grain And Stock Exchanges

Throughout the national discussion of sensational activities in stocks and grain, it is apparent that the popular verdict upholds the view that the markets should be conducted in such a way as not to interfere with the economic welfare of the country. Some sharp things are said about the speculators, while there are equally earnest arguments against arbitrary action. The effect of the value of the dollar enters in while such things as crop conditions and the independent action of the so-called alcoholic stocks are mentioned. In the course of the arguments, it is held that the markets have no effect on the problem involved in the Recovery Act.

"Stocks should rise as commodities go up and industry resumes," says the ST. LOUIS POST-DEMOCRAT, "but there has been no justification for the boom they have enjoyed. The claim made for it that the market has anticipated good times in 1934 is entirely too thin a disguise for the worst of all the national evils." The PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN remarks that "a grain exchange code is prepared and the stock market may anticipate further regulation, but the business of re-stabilizing industry can't go on if the administration's plan of recovery is to be used as the pea in a shell game."

The GLENDALE (CALIF.) NEWS-PRESS, assuming that "the antics in the pits are quite apart from the process of recovery," advises that "in order of recovery, the plan has a chance, though small, but in buying on margin he has no chance at all." The COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE reflects that "the greedy, like the poor, are always with us, and their memory for hard knocks seems very short."

"Neither industry nor agriculture can function on the basis of a roulette wheel," avers the ASBURY PARK (N. J.) EVENING PRESS, with the conclusion that "sound business demands natural prices, attuned to the general economic situation."

The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL holds to the opinion that "orderly rises and declines suit the brokers and bankers best, not only because of the steady profits such conditions ensure, but because violent fluctuations sometimes spell losses for them, unless the stock sold or loaned on is handsomely margined." That paper adds that "the speculative fever swept over the country and operations tend to indicate that the bull movement was the work of speculators, large and small; that 'these operations brought about the undoing of the operators.'"

"The bell weather among the stampeding stocks," observes the HARTFORD TIMES, "was the alcoholic group, and its drop led the way downward, as its rise was in the vanguard going up." The Times concludes that "it is a demoralizing thought that a forecast about the whiskey business should have operated as a guide to the grain and other stock listings."

The PASADENA STAR-NEWS feels that "fluctuations of stocks hint strongly that, despite senate investigations and government chastisements, the bright manipulators have neither forgotten nor abandoned their favorite pastime of shearing the lambs." The OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES contends that, "with the present laws and present leadership, it may be yourself that is at fault—anyway, think it over anything to expand the work of your club and have never suggested anything new and better, you are worth anything as a member.

Explain Stagger System During Hunting Season

Game Commission Answers Criticisms Being Made By Sportsmen

HAVE FUTURE OF SPORT IN MIND

The Board of Game Commissioners calls attention to the fact that a simple check-up of the staggered season for all species of native small game this year will show four days more allowed for hunting than last season.

These dates also include Election Day, Armistice Day, and Thanksgiving Day, two week-ends, three beginnings of the week, and three middles of the week. These scattered dates are so arranged in the opinion of the Board as to give everyone as many opportunities as possible to go hunting.

There have naturally been a few criticisms particularly from rabbit hunters; and admittedly the rabbit is the most popular as a small animal. But the rabbit hunters in Pennsylvania have been unusually fortunate for a great many years because of the fact that the Game Commission has been able to purchase an unrestricted number of rabbits in proportion to the amount of money available. Today that picture has changed. One of the two states forming the chief source of supply of wild cottontail rabbits of an acceptable species, free from rabbit disease, has recently by legislative act restricted the exportation of rabbits, and the other through the same authority made a very determined attempt to do likewise but so far failed.

The Game Commission is not certain whether it will be able to secure its regular supply this year or not, and without the assistance of imported breeding stock, the hunters of Pennsylvania will not be able to continue to kill two and one-half million rabbits each year until a new source of disease-free, acceptable breeding stock is found. For this reason, too, the Board feels that a restriction of the rabbit season, at least until it is definitely assured of an adequate supply for restocking next year, is absolutely necessary. And it further believes that when the hunters of the State are in possession of the above facts, they will realize that the Board, in setting the above seasons, had only the future of their sport in mind.

Staggered Season
The staggered system will be effective for all small game, including wild turkeys, male ring-necked pheasants, ruffed grouse, quail, blackbirds, rabbits, hares, and squirrels, from November 1 to November 30, inclusive, as follows:—Wednesday and Thursday of the first week; Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday of the second week; Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the third week; Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the fourth week; Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the fifth week.

In the case of the wild turkey, the Board has declared a closed season in Wyoming, Pike, Wayne, Monroe, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Carbon, Schuylkill, Berks, Northampton, Lehigh, Dauphin, Lebanon, Tioga, Bradford, Clearfield and Jefferson Counties.

The seasons and bag limits for large game remain the same as last year, namely, bear, November 10 to November 30; deer, December 1 to December 15. There will be no open season on elk this year.

The season on mink, opossum, skunk and otter will extend from November 1 to February 28, inclusive; that on muskrat will open on December 1 and close on February 28.

Mediation To Be Attempted

National And State Boards Are To Be Named In Steel Industry

WILL FOLLOW CODE ADOPTION

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.—One of the first steps which will be taken by the NRA following approval of the steel industry code will be appointment of national and Pennsylvania state mediation boards.

The recovery administration will name a National Industrial Relations Board of three persons to foster good will between employers and workers of the industry and to see to it that the provisions of the fair practice code are abided by. One member of the board will represent manufacturers of the steel industry, one will represent labor, and a third will represent the recovery administration. Appointments will be made by General Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator.

In turn a Pennsylvania state board of three will be named. The national board will receive nominations for the state board from manufacturers and employees of the state. General Johnson will name the Pennsylvania board upon recommendation by the national board.

It will be the duty of the Pennsylvania state mediation board to aid employers and workers in each plant of the iron and steel industry to organize factory conciliation committees. Employers and labor will have equal representation on such factory committees. Disputes and grievances will be heard first by these factory committees.

Where an agreement is reached through such committees it will be considered binding unless the national steel board objects. Where compromise cannot be had through the factory committees, the controversy will be taken to the state board, and finally to the national board.

General Johnson places much faith in this new system for preventing strikes and keeping good feeling between employer and employee. Under his plan, such a series of national and state boards will be named for all major industries as codes for those industries are adopted. Through this setup the general is confident a new era in relationships between employer and labor will be created.

Mrs. Joshua Gives Farewell Sermon

Church Auditorium Is Packed With Friends On Eve Of Departure

Rev. Margaret Joshua, wife of Rev. C. S. Joshua, delivered her farewell sermon to the members of the Croton M. E. church last evening, on the eve of her departure for England, where she expects to spend the coming year with her two daughters, who will study at the Royal Academy of London.

Her subject was "Goin' Visiting," and she patterned her sermon after the famous visits paid to David by Jonathan, as the former hid from King Saul to avoid capture and death, even though Jonathan knew that David was going to usurp his title as king.

Many friends of Mrs. Joshua were present in addition to members of the congregation, and there were several special numbers by the choir, including "Goin' Home," and "Sun-down."

Rev. and Mrs. Joshua, and their two daughters, Ruth and Betty will leave for Nanticoke, Pa., on Wednesday morning, where they will visit friends and remain until Saturday, when Mrs. Joshua and the two girls will sail for London.

●ABOVE—IN RATING THE POPULAR CIGARETTES, Shute says, "Camels are milder, and what is even more important to any golfer, they do not jangle the nerves."

●ABOVE—TWO CONTINENTS CHEERED when slender Densmore Shute, brilliant young American golfer, with wrists of steel and nerves that never wavered, won the British Open—the tenth American champion in ten years!

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

When it comes to healthy nerves, "DENNY" SHUTE speaks with authority. "I couldn't have won the British Open if my nerves hadn't been in perfect condition," says Shute. "Healthy nerves are essential to any golfer who wants to turn in a good score. The enjoyment of cigarettes has not interfered with my golf game because I have smoked Camels right along. I have tried all the brands and long ago found that Camels are milder, and what is even more important to any golfer, they do not jangle the nerves."

"Denny" Shute offers conclusive evidence that Camels are milder. That they don't interfere with healthy nerves. That smokers like Camels better, the more they smoke them. Consider the fact that Camels are made from costlier tobaccos—and switch to them yourself. You will also discover that Camels are better for steady smoking.

●RIGHT—"I'M NOT A CHAMPION GOLFER—not even a fair one, according to Mr. Shute's standards! I'm a young married woman, interested in home and children. But I'm inclined to be the nervous type. So I switched to Camels, for the sake of my nerves, and because Camels are definitely a milder cigarette."

How are Your Nerves?

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Leaf tobaccos for cigarettes can be bought from 5¢ a pound to $1.00...but Camel pays the millions more that insure your enjoyment.

Interesting Program Is To Be Presented On The Evening Of October 25

"—my skin became clear"

—wouldn't you like to be able to say this, too? Then pause a moment and reason... skin affections usually result because of lowered resistance from below the skin surface. Then help the blood that purifies the skin, by increasing its red-cells and restoring the vital oxygen-carrying hemoglobin in these cells so that more vitality comes to the tissues. This will increase the ability of the blood to devour infectious pimple germs. That is just what S.S.S. does—proved by tens of thousands of unsolicited letters of thankfulness. "Shall I use a good soap?"—certainly—"and cosmetics?"—naturally, but first observe Nature's law and lay the sound foundation from underneath the skin. S.S.S., in addition to being a valuable general tonic, has the special property of increasing the red-cells and restoring the hemoglobin content of the blood, when deficient. Try a course of S.S.S. and note the constant improvement. © The S.S.S. Co.

List Firms Here Who Have Signed NRA Agreement

Department Of Commerce
Has Received Many Acceptances From City

WILL LIST NAMES
DURING COMING WEEK

Chairman Fred L. Rents
Outlines Official Uses
Of Emblem

According to information received from Harry K. Sorenson, district manager of the Philadelphia branch of the United States Department of Commerce, by Fred L. Rents, chairman of the N. R. A. committee for Lawrence county, 99 signed agreements have been received from New Castle, but many additional firm names will be listed next week, Mr. Sorenson stated.

Misuse Serious Offense
While it is the desire of those in charge of the President's Emergency Re-employment campaign to see widespread use made of the official emblem of the N. R. A., which bears the words, "We Do Our Part," it was pointed out today by Fred L. Rents, general in charge of the big drive in Lawrence county, that it is a serious offense on the part of anyone who might make improper use of the insignia. Mr. Rents made it plain that the N. R. A. official emblem is the property of the United States government, and may not be used or reproduced without authority of the N. R. A.

"The government's regulations permit the use of this emblem," continued Mr. Rents, "by all employers who sign the President's Re-employment Agreement, and comply with it, and the regulations also permit consumers to wear or display a similar badge but only in the form authorized for consumers who sign a statement of co-operation.

Any newspaper, magazine, or other publication is authorized to reproduce the emblem in the advertisement of any employer, provided such employer files with the newspaper, magazine, or other publication, a written statement that he has signed the President's Agreement and affixes the sticker thereto.

Mr. Rents also stated that employers desiring to make other uses of the emblem may consult the N. R. A.

HOME PLAYGROUNDS VALUABLE TO CHILDREN

Two scenes typical of the home playground of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Anderson.

Pictured is a typical scene on a vacant lot next to the modest home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Anderson of Cleveland Heights, O. These parents have equipped the playground and welcome the children of the neighborhood to play with their own two who are five and three years old, respectively. A few simple rules must be observed by children playing there, and they are learning, under the Andersons' supervision, to play peacefully, and to be careful of property.

Blames Husband For Slaying Of Children

Mr. and Mrs. Mertis Fleming of Jefferson, O., who are charged with the murder of their two baby boys. Mrs. Fleming previously confessed to the murders, but later repudiated it and now says that her husband committed the crime.

(International News Service)
JEFFERSON, O., Aug. 7.—Repudiating details of her first alleged confession, Mrs. Aleeta Fleming, 28, today implicated her 55-year-old husband in the slaying of two of their children, both boys, police announced here.

"I was afraid of my husband," Mrs. Fleming told Sheriff C. H. Blanche in her new version of the murders. "I was afraid he would kill me."

Mrs. Fleming assumed full responsibility for the slayings in her first alleged confession, declaring she killed the infants because her husband "didn't like my babies." Today, however, she shifted the blame to her husband and accused him of strangling to death four-months-old Mertis, Jr., last week after a pot of ammonia had failed to kill him.

"Husband Did It."
Willis Fleming another child of the couple, died more than a year ago at the age of four months from the effects of a strong acid.

Describing the death of Mertis, Jr., last week, the distraught young mother cried: "I didn't do it. My husband did it."

"I was out in the yard hanging up the clothes and just as I went in my husband came out of the house. I looked at the baby in the buggy and saw that he was all black in the face. Then I saw that he had a cord or something around his neck and he was dead."

Both the husband and wife are held in the Ashtabula county jail here without bond following their arraignment on first degree murder charges before Justice of the Peace R. O. Dixon. Fleming pleaded not guilty and his wife declared "I'm guilty." A not guilty plea was entered for her, however.

Both will await action of the grand jury which meets late next month.

Mrs. Fleming declared today that she lived in mortal fear of her husband, according to Sheriff Blanche. Recounting their six years of married life, she charged that "I was beaten and worked to death."

She declared that she expected to die in the electric chair for the murders.

"I want to die," she cried. The Flemings have one other child, a girl, Beatrice, 3, who is being cared for by neighbors.

City Solicitor To Write Opinion On Butler Case

Butler Funeral Company
Maintains It Does Not Come Within Local Ordinance

HAD SOLD VAULT
TO LOCAL FIRM

White Informally Agrees
That Company Need Not Register Under Local Act

Attorney Gilbert Long today appeared as counsel for the Butler Funeral Service of Butler, Pa., when council met in the City building, and expressed the opinion that his clients do not come under the provisions of the registration ordinance adopted months ago. Solicitor White agreed informally with Attorney Long and will present an opinion to this effect to council.

Attorney Long said that his clients have a contract with the National Radiator for construction of the vaults which are made here. The orders are given to the Johnston, Pa., office of the National Radiator Company.

Perform Service
He said that the Butler Funeral Service Company had disposed of a vault to a local funeral director and in connection had performed certain service at a funeral. A representative of the council was asked if he had complied with the registration act and upon his negative reply he was told by the policeman he would have to arrest him. Attorney Long said that this crippled their business, affected local industry and maintained the registration ordinance did not apply to this kind of business. He asked that the powers of the police in this particular business be defined.

Councilman Genkinger said that action at the conclusion of the fund day service was embarrassing and offered the motion by which Solicitor White will hand down a formal opinion.

Wholesale Business
Solicitor White, speaking informally, said to council that "the chief has an idea contractors are subject to a license. Under the registration ordinance we can make two kinds of people register, viz: (1) one who comes in and opens a place of business and (2) anyone who goes from house to house taking orders for and delivering goods. White said: "this does not include a salesman who goes to stores and transact wholesale business." He said the act of 1899 makes the people exempt.

White said the purpose of the ordinance is to rap "fly-by-nights." He said in the case before council "Butler people make a contract with an undertaker for a burial vault. They also give certain other services. We cannot regulate it because this is a wholesale business."

there is support for it in employment and wages. The LACROSSE TRIBUNE suggests that "spasmodic fluctuation is due to lack of faith in the market." The MORGANTOWN DOMINION-NEWS, however, asserts that "the sound recovery that preceded the break still remains pulsating for a slow, steady climb during the rest of 1933."

Discussing the proceedings in the grain market, the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL offers the opinion of the rules issued by the Chicago Board of Trade: "The two rules which count are that no grain price shall go below the closing market of July 20, and that fluctuation of any one day shall be limited—wheat and rye to 8 cents, corn and barley to 5 cents and oats to 4 cents. The cause of these drastic rules is two-fold. Prices moved down so rapidly, it is reported, that many brokers found they could not sell customers out fast enough to protect themselves. That was serious. No well-regulated game of chance should run against the house."

"Speculation should not be permitted to be the prevailing influence in the grain market," contends the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, the WALL STREET JOURNAL takes the position: "In any government of the exchanges, whether by their own rules or under a code, there is one fact that cannot be overlooked if serious fluctuations are to be avoided. That fact is that generally a price collapse is the result of an upward movement with little to oppose it. In the past the government has opposed short selling, but never has a word been said against long buying. The result of this is a one-sided market which, under the spur of speculative excitement, mounts ever higher, until it becomes top-heavy and falls. Short selling is a safety brake and at times becomes a shock absorber to limit the permanent limitations on the daily price fluctuations," according to the BALTIMORE SUN, "although immediately practical, may prove less important in the long run. There is something arbitrary about this measure, and as would be the case with every other arbitrary device for interfering with the normal operation of the forces by which markets are governed, its final effectiveness is open to question."

Circus Coming On August 19

Great Hagenback-Wallace Circus To Exhibit In New Castle

MANY FEATURES TO BE PRESENTED

Hark, ye, kiddies, and listen to this: a circus is coming to town, or, to be exact, the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, with 1,400 people, including Clyde Beatty, the world's greatest wild animal trainer, and hundreds upon hundreds of wonders from spangeland.

The big show, second largest in the world, will exhibit here, afternoon and night, on Saturday, August 19, at Mahoning and Cedar street ground.

The number one advertising car with thirty-five billboards, lithographers, and bannermen aboard, arrived early today to bill "the highest class circus on earth," as the gigantic affair is known. All over the city and surrounding country, the flamboyant posters went up announcing the wonders to be seen under the huge big-top.

Many new features dot the lengthy program this year. Foremost of these, in addition to Clyde Beatty, will be the famous Hanneford family of bare-back riders, with "Poodles" Hanneford, greatest of riding clowns; the Picchiani Troupe of spring-board performers; "Bombay," The Man From India; the Canestrelli family, unsupported-ladder performers; the Flying Hills, and the Clarksons, troupe of daring trapeze performers; the Le Blanche Trio, thrilling aerialists, and scores of other featured acts and displays from among the 500 men and women acrobats stars listed under the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace banners this season.

Innumerable educated, and trained horse displays, a maze of aerial acts, groups of wild and trained animal numbers, whole families in acrobatic displays, a congress of nationally known clowns, five herds of performing elephants in one gigantic assemblage, and a new 1933 version of "The Soudan" gorgeous pageant in song which climaxes in an elaborate display of fire-works, are other outstanding features.

Performers will be given at 2 and 8 p. m., with the gates opening one hour in advance, allowing time for leisurely inspection of the famous Hagenbeck-Wallace menagerie, the largest on tour in the world.

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—While militiamen guarded 16-year-old Betty Downes, daughter of a high Pennsylvania railroad official, at Camp Buono, in the New Hampshire hills, federal agents here today promised to arrest within 24 hours the author of an extortion note demanding $50,000 for the girl's safety.

The note, comprised of words cut from newspapers and magazines and pasted on rough paper, was delivered in the mail to James R. Downes, the girl's father, Saturday morning. The author was said to have threatened to shoot the girl from ambush at camp unless the money was forthcoming at a rendezvous near Philadelphia.

At almost the same time the note was delivered to Downes, a man telephoned his wife at their apartment, demanding a $15,000 "advance payment".

Downes said he was at first inclined to consider the note a joke, but upon realizing its sinister significance, notified federal authorities here.

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 7.—Ralph Kuhn, Lake-twp farmer, is recovering from injuries inflicted by a cow, suffering from rabies, which attacked him as he was leading it to his barn following its purchase from a neighbor.

As We See the Future

NRA MEMBERS in spirit as well as in fact, this company is proud to take its place with other pioneer firms that have made New Castle a patriotic, progressive city.

We recognize a new obligation and shall be as conscientious as regards it as we have been to the obligation that has always guided it—the obligation to produce the finest cleaning service at a reasonable price.

In accordance with the NRA code it will be our policy to advance prices only when forced to do so by rising costs and then only to the extent of increased expense.

In our opinion, anticipating cleaning needs—having fall and winter cleaning done now—at today's prices—will result in considerable savings.

L. Schmidt Is Held For Court

Castle Hill Mission Superintendent Faces Severe Charge

L. Schmidt, superintendent of the Castle Hill Mission, was today charged with manufacturing and possessing intoxicating liquor before Alderman W. J. Ewing, by Chief of Police John F. Haven. Mr. Schmidt waived a hearing and was held for the September term of court. He furnished bail in the sum of $1500 and is now at liberty.

The charge grew out of the raid conducted some time ago at the Castle Hill Mission, when the police found two stills, a quantity of finished product and many barrels of mash. At the time of his arrest, Mr. Schmidt was charged with being the keeper of a disorderly house and assessed a fine of $100 and the costs by Mayor Charles B. Mayne. He failed to pay the fine and costs. Superintendent Schmidt claims to have had that part of the house in which the stills and mash were found rented to other persons and had no knowledge of what they were doing.

Interesting Speakers Tell Of The Activities Of The Organization

Mass meeting held last evening at five o'clock in the King Humbert hall, Division street, under the auspices of the Italian-American Citizens League, was attended by group of Italian American Citizens, who filled every bit of available space in the hall. The attendance was remarkable in view of the many counter attractions.

The speakers of the evening were Attorney William B. Spagnola, a prosecuting attorney of Youngstown, Attorney Carmine Marrinaro of Butler, Attorney Joseph Leta Jr. of this city and Joseph Parry, president of the Italian American Citizens' league in this district.

The remarks of all the speakers were of special interest and presented in an able manner. Their remarks were in effect the benefits to be derived in such an organization, that all Italians should be citizens and as such should take an active part in the political life of the country, which they stated would be better for themselves and the country as a whole.

Announcement was made that there would be meetings in the various wards prior to the coming primary, also that another bigger and better mass meeting was being planned for some time before the primary, at which time it was hoped to have Judge Musmanno of Pittsburgh or Attorney Charles Margiotti of Pittsburgh as the speakers, if this can be arranged.

Union Alumni To Picnic August 17

Union high school graduates and former teachers, from 1926 to this year, will gather at Cascade Park for a gala reunion celebration on Thursday, Aug. 17. It was announced by leaders of the first union affair today.

Promising one of the most enjoyable picnic events, the committee today went to work to contact out-of-town residents who once attended or taught at Union high.

A supper, in the form of a basket dinner, will be served in the picnic grove at 6:30 o'clock. Officers will then be named to head the alumni group during the ensuing year.

Railroad excursion rates this summer will be the lowest in 20 years. There's a great deal of puff in the old choo-choo yet, as bus lines are beginning to realize.

Floor Tax On Flour Goes Into Effect Today

Retailers Must Take Inventory On Stock Of Wheat Products This Evening

What has been designated as a floor tax and which effects the stocks of all food products in which wheat is the major ingredient, such as flour, breakfast foods, pretzels, pastry flours, etc., which the retailer has on hand and is indicated as the unsold portion of what he had on hand July 9, when the original tax was levied on the processors, wholesalers and distributors of wheat products, became effective as of midnight Monday.

The dealer in these products who wants to avoid possible future trouble should take an inventory of all such products at the close of business this evening. From the stock on hand, he may deduct the purchases shown on invoices of the last thirty days and any amount then shown is the amount that he is supposed to have had on hand July 9 and on which no tax had yet been paid. This retailer had thirty days in which to pay this tax. Information relative to the tax may be obtained from the government or the local representative of the revenue department.

Cuban Congress To Meet Today

Will Authorize Suspension Of Constitutional Guarantees Under Martial Law

GENERAL STRIKE SWEEPS ISLAND

(International News Service) HAVANA, Aug. 7.—The Cuban congress will meet today to authorize suspension of constitutional guarantees, restored less than two weeks ago, following action of President Gerardo Machado in proclaiming a virtual martial law to combat the nation-wide strike.

With strikes aimed at ending the Machado regime spreading rapidly and virtually halting the republic's industrial life, government officials took measures to prevent further riots in which three more persons were killed and many wounded, bringing the death toll to at least seven in the past five days.

Railroad men, bartenders and waiters have joined the walkout, which began in Havana as a transportation strike more than a week ago. Trains were virtually halted, mail was not delivered and a food shortage was feared. Federal troops set up machine gun nests in the Havana streets as the government moved for a final effort to break up the labor demonstration against the president.

Order Is Made In Dean Estate

Ida B. Dodson And Other Heirs Are Directed To Pay Costs In Controversy

In the estate of the late Nellie M. Dean in which Orvel D. Williams and Jane H. Ligo, presented a petition for an order of court directing that certain costs be paid by Ida B. Dodson and other heirs, the defendants are directed to pay the costs in an opinion handed down by Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court Monday. The case grows out of a controversy over the will of Nellie M. Dean. Ida M. Dodson and others appealed from the decision of the register of wills in admitting a will alleged to be that of Mrs. Dean to probate. An issue was later awarded and a hearing was held in which much testimony was offered as to the handwriting of the will.

At the first trial of the case a verdict in favor of the defendants, Ida B. Dodson and others heirs was rendered. At a second trial a verdict was awarded the plaintiffs, Orvel D. Williams and Jane H. Ligo. This verdict was appealed and sustained by the superior court, but no order was made as to the disposition of the costs.

The costs of the defendants, including the paper book necessary in taking the case to the Superior court, amounted to $3,524.30. Costs incurred by the plaintiffs amounted to $759.50, which the latter asked be paid by the contestants. There was also the matter of the costs of the auditor, which amounted to $2,773.30. This came out of the estate before distribution. Under the courts order Ida B. Dodson and the other heirs must pay the costs in controversy.

Mrs. Lanigan Is Visitor At Asaph

Finds Forty Local Boys In Camp Hardened And Happy In Forestry Camp

OFFICERS ARE PRAISED BY BOYS

Mrs. Gertrude Lanigan, justice of the peace, of Union township, whose son, Don Lanigan is camped with 39 other local boys in the Civilian Conservation Corps cantonment at Asaph, Pa., returned last evening after a brief visit at the camp.

Mrs. Lanigan drove down to the camp, which is situated along U. S. highway No. 6, in approximately seven hours and made the same time returning, the round trip distance being approximately 500 miles. She made the trip alone.

The boys in the camp were happy with their lot and have been hardened by their work in the woods, resembling bronzed young Indians. They were loud in their praise of the treatment which they have received at camp, particularly the many courtesies shown by Capt.

Faldman, who is in charge of the camp. Sunday at noon, Mrs. Lanigan was the guest of Capt. Faldman, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Staley, Mr. Staley being head of the Department of Forests and Waters of the state.

Mrs. Lanigan stated that the boys from New Castle informed her that she was the first New Castle visitor that they have seen since they have been in camp, and they were anxious to know about things back home.

Notables Lived In Downtown Home Here, Visitor Recalls

A man who became a Kentucky congressman and a United States ambassador to Guatemala in his later life once lived in the two-story brick home across North Mercer street from The Castleton, W. George Hunter, now visiting here from California, recalled today as he reminisced about New Castle's younger days.

The man was Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, former druggist here, who was commissioned for the Guatemala post by the late President William McKinley.

Dr. Hunter, the visitor distinctly remembers, lived in the house with his uncle at the time he and Dr. Daniel Leasure operated what was called the New Castle Dispensary as partners. The store stood at the Neshannock bridge.

It so happens that another resident there once was Dr. William James Shields, a brother-in-law of James Hunter. During the Civil war days both lived there, and shortly after Dr. Shields was named to a high position in the United States medical department at Washington, D. C.

The brick home, the Californian said today, was bought by his father, James Hunter, at the time of his marriage to Miss Jane Shields. Their wedding was officiated over by Dr. Robert Audley Browne and occurred in the parlors of the Leslie House.

The first office manager of the Leslie, it was learned was James Hunter, a first cousin to Captain James Leslie.

Mr. Hunter, a Los Angeles resident, will remain here for some time to renew acquaintances made in early days.

Yanks-Senators Open Up Series

Four Game Series At Yankee Stadium Will Have Important Bearing

GIANTS INCREASE LEAD IN LEAGUE

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The battle between Washington and New York for first place in the American League race will be renewed at Yankee Stadium today when the rivals open a four-game series with a double header.

Trimmed by the Nats in nine of their fourteen clashes this season, the Yanks must win three of the four games to get within striking distance of the flying leaders. Except for a single game at the Capital next Sunday, the series will mark the last meeting of the two clubs until the final three games of the schedule.

Lead Is Cut.
The Yanks cut Washington's lead to three games by shading the Red Sox yesterday, 5 to 4 while the Athletics, fresh from three straight victories over New York, stopped the Senators.

An error by Bucky Walters, rookie third baseman, staked the Yanks to the winning run. The veteran George Uhle did the rest, hitting a relief pitcher, holding Boston to one hit in the last four innings.

Washington started Ed Chapman, rookie from Rochester, and the A's knocked him out in the third inning, scoring eight runs in the first three frames and winning 12 to 8. Jimmy Foxx cracked his 31st homer and Mike Higgins knocked in five runs with a homer, triple, double and single.

Giants Increase Lead.
The Giants increased their lead over Pittsburgh in the National League race to 3 1-2 games by dividing a twin bill with Brooklyn while the Bucs lost to Chicago. Van Mungo, Brooklyn's best pitcher, beat the great Carl Hubbell in the opener, 6 to 3, and the Dodgers knocked out Roy Parmelee in the second game only to be stopped cold by the Cuban ace, Adolfo Luque. Manager Bill Terry of the Giants made five straight hits and knocked in two runs to help win the night cap, 3 to 2.

Pat Malone continued his great pitching for the Cubs, blanking Pittsburgh 6 to 0. Babe Herman's 13th homer featured a big fifth inning rally when the Braves kayaked Steve Swetonic and scored five runs. Cincinnati advanced to seventh place, passing Brooklyn by taking two close extra-inning games from the Cardinals, 2 to 1 in 11 innings and 1 to 0 in 12 innings. Manion's single enabled Red Lucas to outpoint Tex Carleton in the opener. Paul Derringer of the Reds held his former mates to three hits in the nightcap, a tough one for the veteran Jess Haines to lose.

Phila-Braves Split.
The Braves and Phils also put on two great mound duels. Ed Holley of the Quakers outpointed Ed Brandt in the opener, 1 to 0, on a homer by Spud Davis. Jordan's single in the tenth gave Frankhouse a 2 to 1 verdict over Auston Moore in the nightcap.

Detroit took fourth place away from Cleveland in the American League by scalping the Indians twice, 7 to 3 and 3 to 1. Gehring's second homer of the day won the second game.

George Blaholder of the Browns held Chicago to four hits, winning 7 to 1, after the Sox had taken the opener in 11 innings, 6 to 5.

Comorosky Has Wrenched Ankle

Injuries Beset Pittsburgh Pirates Keep Them From Top Of National League

MEET NEW CASTLE WEDNESDAY EVENING

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Injuries, which cost the Pittsburgh Pirates the National League lead earlier in the campaign, are again stalking the Gibsons today as they hammer away at all opponents in an effort to regain first place.

Just when Freddy Lindstrom recovered from a strained leg and the Pirates were looking ahead to utilizing their maximum strength in another concerted push forward, Adam Comorosky, left-fielder, fell victim of the injury jinx. Commy wrenched his ankle at Chicago Saturday when he was nailed at the plate in an attempted double steal. He is optimistic, however, and believes he will be ready for action by Thursday when the Bucs resume their pennant war.

Pirate catcher, war, Earl Grace, wrenched a sore thumb which resulted from a foul tip that caught him on the tip of his hand.

Pittsburgh and Chicago split their short series, the Cubs winning 6-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Pat Malone yesterday after "High Hat" Smith had trimmed them Saturday 5-2. Smith yielded but five safeties in winning his game. Swetonic, who suffered yesterday's defeat had one bad inning, the fifth, in this frame a rally starting with Bill Jurgens single and culminating with "Babe" Herman's homer, netted five runs. The Cubs scored another run off Bill Harris who relieved Swetonic.

The National League enjoyed a holiday today. Officially, the Pirates will be idle on Tuesday and Wednesday also. Two exhibitions, one at Wheeling, W. Va., and another at New Castle, will occupy the attentions of Pittsburgh during their off days.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—It is more than thirty-six hours later, but any witness at Forest Hills must still feel alternately impressed and amused by what took place on Saturday when America eked out a 4 to 3 victory over England to hold the Wightman cup after the verdict had hung for hours by the Gossamer thread of mere chance. One was impressed, first, by the probability that from now on Mrs. Helen Wills Moody is liable to play less tennis both for the United States and in it, and second, that all we needed was her absence from Wightman cup play to prove that we have players able to carry on the tradition.

In other words, one was impressed in several directions. But the amusement came from only one. This was afforded by the antics of the Tennis Association in trying to disguise the distressing fact that Mrs. Moody, the crowd-pleaser, as we vulgarly say, not only couldn't but wouldn't appear.

Mrs. Moody is more than the world's greatest woman player. She also is the world's greatest gate attraction in tennis. So the Tennis Association not wishing to confuse the public on this point, naturally hastened to announce the star's inability to be present, did it not? Exactly, winterbottom. It did not. The Tennis Association yielded the information bearing on Friday's matches as late as possible and only under pressure but left Saturday open.

Games are wanted with Elder A. C. Ryanstown, Harbor A. C., Slovack, and others. For games call 1790-R between 5 and 6 o'clock, and ask for Bill Leroy Anderson, of Rigby Post Office, South New Castle, is manager of the team.

The hard-hitting one-time leading middleweight challenger was shot in an altercation at the Professional Club by R. H. Harris, owner, who said "Hudkins reached for his hip pocket as if to draw a gun," after Harris had warned him to "stop beating up on people in the place."

Harris was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

One of the bullets penetrated Hudkins' pelvis, the other entered the left lung, causing a hemorrhage. Physicians said his condition was critical and that an operation would be performed today in an effort to save his life.

Definite Trend To

GRAIN MARKET IS SLUGGISH

STOCKS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The stock market continued to back and fill in narrow and featureless trading today.

The list as a whole was irregular and the dullness of trading made it difficult for any definite trend to appear. Speculators for both the decline and the advance showed little disposition to commit themselves and as a result the ticker stood still for minutes at a time.

The liquor shares were mixed with National Distillers after opening 1 point down, recovering about 2 points from its low, bringing a firmer tone into American commercial alcohol, and U. S. industrial alcohol.

Short covering was obvious in Case which jumped more than a point in the face of a sluggish grain market.

Auburn was a weak spot in the auto share at the start but recovered to around its previous close in the first hour.

Railroad shares were depressed by liquidation reported to be in a measure from abroad and Atchafalaya lost 2 points.

Steel shares including U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel and others were quiet and ignored the settlement of the coal strike over the week-end.

Radio Keith-Orpheum was sold freely losing about 1 point on the Chemical bank's action in selling foreclosure of the company's properties. Radio was sold in sympathy.

Annual Swimming Meet Being Staged In The Shelby Playground Pool Today

TO HOLD CIRCUS EVENT WEDNESDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—Action and plenty of it will be observed in the Ellwood City Playgrounds this week. This is their eighth and last week and preparations are going on for a memorable closing.

The annual playground swimming meet in which four local playgrounds will enter three different teams according to the age groups, is being staged this afternoon. The title which has been held by the Shelby Playground since the building of the pool about 17 years ago is in danger of being lost today. West End is entering a formidable team. The usually strong Shelby team will be in there again defending its championship.

On Tuesday, the Shelby Seniors and West End Seniors will play a tie off for the mushball championship of the second half. Should Shelby win the two teams will play a three game series as West End was the winner of the first half. Also the midweek teams of the two playgrounds will play for the championship.

Golfers Carry Bags As Caddies Strike Saturday

Field Club Bag Toters Declare Themselves In On The New Deal In Golf

REFUSE COMPROMISE UNDER THEIR PRICE

New Castle's bankers, doctors, lawyers and even judges found out Saturday afternoon that carrying a bag of golf sticks over a hot sultry course is not what it is supposed to be—exercise.

When the New Castle Field Club caddies went out on strike for more money Saturday morning, the members had to do the next best thing if they wanted to play Saturday. A few of the members didn't go out. Several of them did go out and lug those bags over the fairways and hills, and if the Mrs. noticed an appreciable appetite by the Mister, there is a reason—

It seems that the caddies have been reading up on "N.R.A.", and they found out that everybody else was asking for more money. Not being any too modest, the bag-toters decided that now was the time to code, and code they did with a vengeance.

The price paid heretofore to caddies for nine holes has been 30 cents; for 18 holes the ante was raised to 50 cents. It seems as if the boys have decided that with the price of shoes and stockings going up faster than a Boston Red Sox pitcher, they should get a little more for their efforts.

The demand on the New Castle Field Club is 75 cents for 18 holes and about 35 or 40 cents for nine holes. It is understood that this offer has been compromised by the Field Club officials, but that the boys have turned down the offer, a la Babe Ruth.

Meantime, if the members go out they must carry the load, and hunt the balls, and keep their own scores, and also keep track of the number of strokes on each hole, and this is no Roman holiday either if you have ever tried to do all those things at once.
